Jason Emmons was a tutor for Butte College students and an active volunteer on campus.

“Scholarships helped me overcome financial obstacles, which allow me to further my education and continue volunteering in my community. Meeting my education and career goals will allow me to give back to the community by offering my own scholarship someday.”

After an auto-mobile accident in 2003, Sheila Burson was left with “hidden” disabilities.

“I took a class, and I began to realize that I could dream once more. I am extremely grateful to not only the instructors and staff at Butte College, but also to the angels who have funded these scholarships.”
